I. Paraphrase the following selection in English. (40%)

Beginning interpreters are often afraid to pause. A pause motivated by real understanding may be sustained for a much longer time and with greater effect that you might realize. You need only be sure that during the pause something relevant to the material is going on in your mind and the minds of your listeners. You should work not only to use pauses in the most effective places but also to vary and sustain the lengths of the pauses as your material demands. [Excerpted from Oral Interpretation by Charlotte Lee and Timothy Gura.]

II. Write a well-ordered essay of between 200 and 250 words about the following concern. (60%)

There are disadvantages to using smartphones.
